THE DESCENDANTS OF
DR. BERNARD GAINES FARRAR
(1784-1849)

compiled by
Isabel Stebbins Giulvezan
//

St. Louis, Mo.

1963

My work on these records began in 1961 for Joseph Desloge of Florissant, Mo. who was interested in the lineage of his first wife, Anne Kennett Farrar.

A later assignment from a Thruston descendant (Philip H. Broun of Houston, Tex., who wanted limited data on descendants of Ann Clark Thruston and Bernard Gaines Farrar) added much to my knowledge of this family.

Meanwhile, Miss Alvahn Holmes of Baltimore contacted Benedict Farrar of St. Louis, requesting a complete record of descendants of Bernard Gaines Farrar and his two wives, to include in her Farrar Genealogy.

Benedict Farrar engaged me to complete these records.

A minimum of references are cited; in most cases the sources will be obvious: vital statistics, marriage records, obituaries, death notices, tombstone inscriptions, cemetery records, and data furnished by descendants. In the earlier generations, where it was difficult in some cases to locate data or where records were conflicting, sources have been set out. Abbreviations used are born, baptized, died, buried, married, divorced, residence, circa, probably. An asterisk indicates that name will be found in the next generation.

For the benefit of some of the younger descendants who may not know too much about Bernard Gaines Farrar -

He was born in 1784 in Goochland County, Va.

In 1785 his parents moved to what is now Fayette County, Ky.

He began the study of medicine at the age of 15,
with doctors in Cincinnati and Lexington, Ky.

Later studied at Transylvania University and at the University of Pennsylvania.

Practiced medicine for a short time in Frankfort, Ky.

Moved to St. Louis in 1806 (or 1807) and was the first American physician to settle permanently west of the Mississippi.

Was a surgeon in the War of 1812.

Was a member of the Territorial Legislature.

Was founder and first president of the St. Louis
Medical Society.

Died in St. Louis in 1849 in the cholera epidemic.
